

commentletters

From: Robert Greenawalt <rockrain1@verizon.net>
Sent: Wednesday, April 13, 2016 6:30 AM
To: commentletters
Subject: Salton Sea

Attn: Janine Townsend

Dear Janine:

I am a resident of Southern California and live in Murrieta. Over the years, I have spent a great deal of time at the Salton Sea. As I'm sure you know, it is so vital to so many migratory birds for habitat and is such a beautiful place. That, in and of itself is a reason to invest in saving it.

But my concerns come from an even more serious place. I have C.O.P.D., and my lungs are very sensitive. If this huge lake is allowed to dry up, I am scared to death (maybe literally) of the caustic dust that will be blowing around Southern California.

Owen Lake is a prime example of what can happen.

I urge the state of California to invest whatever resources are required to preserve this beautiful place, and also the health and welfare of residents near the lake.

Spend less to fix now, rather than more later to mitigate the damage.

Thanks,

Bob & Annie Greenawalt
Home: 951-696-5790
Cell: 253-350-1103
Cell: 951-319-0748

"The early bird may get the worm, but the second mouse gets the cheese" - Steven Wright